This booklet has been made by the Irish Human Rights and Equality Commission (IHREC).

Coimisiún na hÉireann um Chearta an Duine agus Comhionannas
Irish Human Rights and Equality Commission

IHREC is Ireland's national human rights and equality organisation.

What is IHREC doing?

IHREC is looking for 5 people to sit on its Disability Advisory Committee.

Introduction

IHREC was set up in 2014. Its jobs are to:

- Promote and protect people's rights.
- Encourage a change in culture that shows more respect for human rights and equality.
- Make people more aware of the importance of human rights and equality.
- Encourage good practice in respecting the dignity of people.
- Work toward getting rid of human rights abuses and discrimination.

In March 2018 Ireland agreed to follow the rules set out in the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD).

The UNCRPD sets out what countries have to do to make sure that disabled people have the same rights as everyone else.

This means that Ireland has to send reports to the United Nations Committee.

Ireland sent its first report to this committee in 2021.

IHREC is responsible for checking that the government are doing what they should be doing for disabled people.

The Disability Advisory Committee

IHREC set up its Disability Advisory Committee in 2018.

This committee:

- Helps IHREC on disability issues.
- Helps IHREC to look at the laws of Ireland in relation to disabled people.
- Helps IHREC to check that the government are working on the UNCRPD.

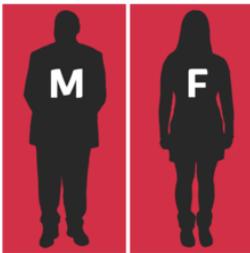

Membership of the committee

IHREC is looking to appoint 5 people to be members of the Disability Advisory Committee.

With these new appointments, the Committee will have 13 external members in total.

At least 75 per cent of the external people on the committee will be disabled people. This means 10 people must be disabled people.

The Disability Advisory Committee will have a gender balance.

This means the committee will try to have the same amount of men and women.

People on the Disability Advisory Committee will work together for at least one term.

This term will last for 3 years from appointment.

Being a committee member

It is important that people who sit on the Disability Advisory Committee have the right experience.

This means having people with different types of skills and experience on the committee.

What is needed to be a member?

People on this committee must be committed to the principles of the UNCRPD.

These principles are based on:

- Dignity, autonomy and independence of persons with disabilities
- Making society more inclusive, accessible and equal
- Making sure there is equality between men and women
- Respecting the rights of children with disabilities

What experience is needed?

If you want to be on this Disability Advisory Committee you must have experience or skills in one of the following

- Participation of disabled people within society
- Awareness raising
- Research and data experience
- Knowing what the UNCRPD is and how it works
- Know about the law and how other issues such as poverty and health affect equality

How the Committee works

IHREC makes sure disabled people are supported to take part in committee meetings.

People may attend meetings by video or other assistive technology if needed.

Time and Pay

The Disability Advisory Committee meets on average 6 times per year.

Committee members are given money for expenses that are reasonable.

Members who are not already getting a public salary can get a payment of €1200 per year from IHREC.

These meetings will take place in the IHREC offices in Dublin or online.

If you have any specific requirements we will discuss these with you beforehand.

IHREC will not pay for any travel expenses for going to these meetings, but may help with the cost of any specific requirements.

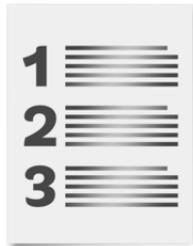

If you cannot go to a meeting we will organise another date for you.

After this time people will be told if they were successful or not.

IHREC will try to make sure that applying to be on the Committee is accessible and inclusive.

We welcome any feedback from people on how they felt this process was.
